

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

Elizabeth Scott

Ph.D.

Elizabeth Scott, Ph.D., founder of Brighter Strategies, provides thought leadership and high value organizational development consulting in support of a stronger social sector.

Liz has provided training and consulting services in strategic planning, process-improvement, and human capital development for over 140 non-profits and associations and has facilitated over 25 Board of Director retreats. She has served on executive leadership teams in the non-profit industry and has overseen the areas of strategy, organizational development and performance.

She has extensive experience in developing and managing all aspects of an organization's quality and business improvement efforts, such as developing and administering programs, training and coaching employees, and facilitating organization-wide change. She has been a Baldrige examiner for the Commonwealth of Virginia and is a certified Standard of Excellence consultant.

Liz is a respected and sought after speaker on the topics of leadership and board development, strategic and operational planning, and nonprofit capacity building. In addition to managing the practice, Liz holds a faculty position at The Chicago School of Professional Psychology where she teaches in the master's of Industrial Organizational Psychology program and the doctoral program in Organizational Leadership.

Liz holds an undergraduate degree in Sociology and a Master's degree in Organizational Sciences from The George Washington University, as well as a second Master's and Ph.D. in Human and Organizational Systems from Fielding Graduate University in Santa Barbara, California. She lives in Falls Church, Virginia with her husband and three dogs.

Interested in learning more? Please visit the Brighter Strategies website at: www.brighterstrategies.com.